

THE LECTURES

Wednesday, September 23, 2009

What Happened at Vatican II?

The Author Comments

Rev. John O' Malley, S.J., Ph.D.

Professor, Georgetown University

7:30 pm, St. Mary Student Parish

Thursday, October 8, 2009

Can Ethics Really Be Taught?

Carolyn Woo, Ph.D.

Dean of Mendoza College, University of Notre Dame

4:30 pm, R1230, Ross School of Business

Thursday, November 12, 2009

Addressing Poverty in Troubled Times: the U.S., North America, and the World

Mary Jo Bane, Ph.D.

Academic Dean, Harvard Kennedy School

4:00 pm, Educational Conference Center,
School of Social Work

Thursday, February 18, 2010

Meteorites, Asteroids and the Structure of the Solar Nebula

Br. Guy Consolmagno, S.J., Ph.D.

Astronomer, Vatican Observatory

4:00 pm, 807 Dennison

Thursday, March 18, 2010

Women and the Church

Melinda Henneberger

Author and Journalist

7:30 pm, St. Mary Student Parish

WE THANK OUR CO-SPONSORS:

Center for Ethics in Public Life
Commonweal Magazine
Department of Astronomy
Gerald R. Ford School of Public Policy
Ross School of Business
School of Social Work

The Commonweal Speakers Program is made possible thanks to a generous gift from James H. Duffy

Fr. Gabriel Richard was one of the co-founders of the University of Michigan as well as pioneer priest, educator and statesman. The Fr. Gabriel Richard Lectures, named for him, are designed to help students and community members enrich their understanding of the Catholic faith. Distinguished speakers share their insights on prayer, moral life, social justice and contemporary theological issues. The bell, currently in St. Mary's courtyard, is believed to have been used by Fr. Richard to call children to his school near Detroit.

331 Thompson Street • Ann Arbor, MI 48104
(734) 663-0557

www.stmarystudentparish.org

St. Mary Student Parish Presents

The Fr. Gabriel Richard Lectures

2009 - 2010

CALLING US TO EXAMINE CURRENT ISSUES IN LIGHT OF OUR FAITH

ABOUT THE PRESENTERS

John O'Malley, S.J., Ph.D.

John W. O'Malley, S.J., is Professor of Theology at Georgetown University. One of the most respected and widely recognized church historians in North America, he has held a number of prestigious fellowships including ones from the Guggenheim Foundation and the National Endowment for the Humanities. His books have won major prizes, and his best known work, The First Jesuits, has been translated into ten languages. Fr. O'Malley's research interest is the councils of the Christian church, with special attention to the Council of Trent and the Second Vatican Council. His latest book, What Happened at Vatican II, was published in 2008. Fr. O'Malley received his doctorate in history from Harvard University and has taught and lectured at a number of institutions, including Harvard and Oxford.

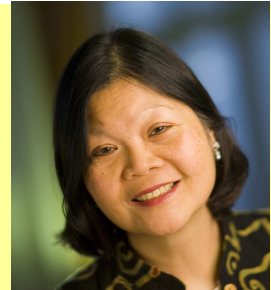

What Happened at Vatican II? The Author Comments

Carolyn Woo, Ph.D.

Carolyn Y. Woo is the Martin J. Gillen Dean of the Mendoza College of Business and the Ray and Milann Siegfried Chair in Entrepreneurial Studies at the University of Notre Dame. Dean Woo's specific interests include strategic management entrepreneurship, technological innovation and organizational change. She has served on editorial boards for numerous publications, and has engaged in consulting for a number of corporate and other organizations. She serves on the boards of three Fortune 400 companies and was elected to the Board of Governors of Beta Gamma Sigma and to the International Association for Management Education, the accreditation association for business schools. Dr. Woo received her Ph.D. from Purdue University. She is married to David E. Bartkus and they have two sons.

Co-Sponsored By: Center for Ethics in Public Life, Ross School of Business

Can Ethics Really Be Taught?

Mary Jo Bane, Ph.D.

Mary Jo Bane is the Thornton Bradshaw Professor of Public Policy and Management, Academic Dean, and Chair of the Management and Leadership area at Harvard Kennedy School. Previously, Dr. Bane was Assistant Secretary for Children and Families at the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, and she was Commissioner of the New York State Department of Social Services. She is the author of a number of books and articles on poverty, welfare, families, and the role of churches in civic life. She is currently doing research on poverty in the United States and international context. Dr. Bane received her Doctor of Education from Harvard University. She lives in Dorchester, Massachusetts, with her husband, Kenneth Winston, and enjoys hiking, gardening, and reading novels.

Co-Sponsored By: Gerald R. Ford School of Public Policy, School of Social Work

Addressing Poverty in Troubled Times: the U.S., North America, and the World

Guy Consolmagno, S.J., Ph.D.

Dr. Consolmagno is curator of the Vatican meteorite collection in Castel Gandolfo, one of the largest collections in the world. He received his B.S. and M.S. degrees in Earth and Planetary Sciences from MIT, and his Ph.D. in Planetary Science from the University of Arizona. Dr. Consolmagno's research explores the connections between meteorites and asteroids, and the origin and evolution of small bodies in the solar system. He has coauthored five astronomy books: Turn Left at Orion (with Dan M. Davis; Cambridge University Press, 1989); Worlds Apart (with Martha W. Schaefer; Prentice Hall, 1993); The Way to the Dwelling of Light (University of Notre Dame Press, 1998); Brother Astronomer (McGraw Hill, 2000); and God's Mechanics (Jossey-Bass, 2007).

Co-Sponsored By: Department of Astronomy

Meteorites, Asteroids and the Structure of the Solar Nebula

Melinda Henneberger

Melinda Henneberger is a columnist for Commonweal magazine. Previously, Ms. Henneberger was a reporter for The New York Times and a contributing editor for Newsweek magazine. She is the author of If They Only Listened to Us: What Women Voters Want Politicians to Hear. She lives with her husband and their two children outside Washington, D.C.

Co-Sponsored By: Commonweal magazine

Women and the Church

